

VPT10W

A handheld POS terminal built for business

Designed for modern payment environments, the VPT10W combines Android-powered performance, secure payment acceptance, and flexible mobility in a compact handheld terminal.

Certified security standards

Built to meet industry-recognized payment security standards, VPT10W helps protect sensitive payment data throughout every transaction. This provides businesses with a secure payment environment while building customer confidence at checkout.

Flexible payment acceptance

Supports multiple payment methods, allowing businesses to serve different customer payment preferences with a single handheld device. This flexibility simplifies payment acceptance and helps create a smooth checkout experience across a variety of business environments.

Reliable everyday performance

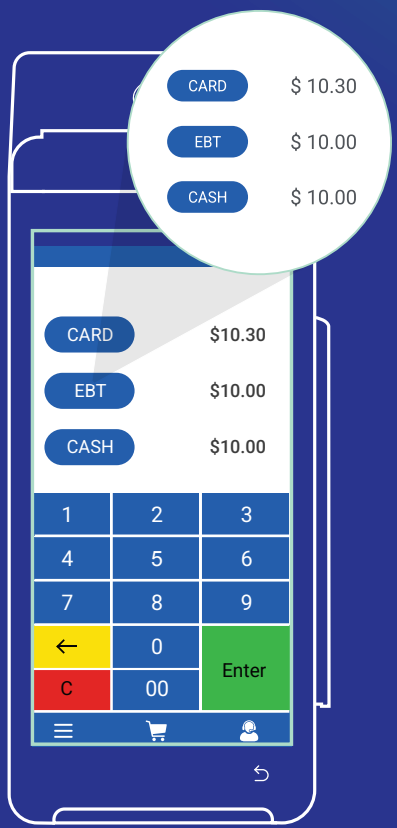

Designed to deliver consistent performance throughout the business day, VPT10W helps businesses keep transactions moving without unnecessary interruptions. Whether operating in retail, hospitality, or mobile environments, it supports dependable day-to-day payment operations.

Integrated receipt printing

A built-in thermal printer enables instant receipt generation without the need for external hardware. This simplifies the checkout process, reduces equipment to manage, and helps businesses complete transactions more efficiently.
